ADMINISTRATION

TRADITIONS

(1821-1929)

"May the future keep the traditions of liberal and independent thinking in religion, politics and society, and the constant desire to contribute to the public welfare."

Cloyd H. Marwig

The Secretary's Office is primarily a contact point between the University and the Public. Here are sent the hundred and one inquiries on this and that and the other thing, from those who seek information about the University, or through the University. Details of Commencements, and other public functions are handled here. As Secretary of the Faculties, the Secretary must attend all faculty meetings, and in his office are kept the minutes of the faculties stretching back over more than a century.

Emory L. Hager

Under Dean Wilbur's guidance and the loyal co-operation of his faculty, Columbian College has become one of the best colleges in the country. In a peculiarly fitting sense, it is his college. Although he has been made Provost of the University, Columbian College may continue to expect the best in heart and mind that he has to give.

Columbian College faces the future with confidence. It furnishes the preliminary training for law, for medicine and for the graduate school. It trains men and women for business, for newspaper work, for public service and for the foreign service. Best of all, Columbian College provides a liberal education, thus enabling its students to adapt themselves to a changing civilization and to arouse and develop the opportunities that lie dormant before them.

Charles E. Hill

The Law School has been a member of the Association of American Law Schools since the founding of that organization. It has also been approved by the American Bar Association, which, through the Council of Legal Education undertook five years ago the inspection and rating of law schools and the making of an approved list. The school is thus fully accredited by all bodies which accredit law schools and by boards of bar examiners in all of the states. The standing of the school is of the greatest importance to students. It enables them to obtain a maximum of credit in case they desire to complete their courses in other schools. It is also important in some of the states when the time comes for the student to apply for admission to the Bar.

Wm. C. Van Dusen

The School of Engineering was founded as the Corcoran Scientific School in 1884. Bureau of Education statistics for the last school year show this school forty-fourth in enrollment among one hundred and forty-eight engineering schools and second among the eight engineering schools of the District of Columbia and adjacent states. About three-fourths of the students are employed during the day, most of them in scientific or engineering work. This is one of six schools in the United States where such students can obtain the complete work for a degree in engineering.

John R. Lapham

With one hundred and four years of service the School of Medicine has for its policy the development of a medical educational institution of the highest grade in the Capital of the United States. To this end it has constantly maintained the high standards required of schools classed "A" by the American Medical Association, and recognized by the Royal Examining Board of England. With this as a basis the Faculty in looking toward that expansion of the University by which the teaching and research in medicine may be extended, so thus it may use in full all the great advantages offered by the great Libraries, Museums, and Laboratories in the Capital City.

W. H. Borden

The interest manifested by the President and the splendid spirit shown by the Pharmacists of Washington assure the future success of the School of Pharmacy. A building has been purchased and is to be remodeled and equipped with lecture rooms and laboratories for the exclusive use of Pharmacy students. A school of Pharmacy of which the National Capital may justly be proud is our ultimate aim.

Louis F. Bradley

The CHERRY TREE

Founded in 1907, the School of Education became of age during the year just past. The feeling of having reached its majority has given the school confidence to stride forward along independent lines. A year ago the school declared its independence from the Department of Arts and Sciences, decided to administer its own graduate work, and changed its name from Teachers College to School of Education. During the present year it has voted to step up to the status of a senior college, a provision that will become effective in the fall of 1929. This means that admission will be based on the completion of two years of approved college work or on graduation from a standard normal school. A curriculum group, designed especially to prepare students for admission, has been incorporated in Columbian College.

W. C. Rudiger

The Graduate School of Letters and Sciences, founded in 1893, is completing its thirty-sixth year. Throughout its existence, it has striven to maintain strict standards in higher education. That it fills a needed function in Washington, is shown by the continued increase in registration. On its faculty serve many distinguished scholars, and many excellent students have received its degrees. The income from a recent large gift will be devoted to graduate fellowships and scholarships.

The Dean of Men is a University officer with varied duties. He is the "contact man" between the administration of the University and the men students. He is concerned with everything that affects the personal and group interests of the men students, and especially with social life and "Student Activities." Freshmen and other new students are some of his particular cares. He is a consultant—at the discretion of the dean of the school or college concerned—in disciplinary matters, but he is an official disciplinarian of the University. His office is a place not only of friendly counsel, but of friendly consultation, where students may frankly present their points of view, not merely listen to his. To sum up, his duties have to do with the all-important human relationships in the complex life of the University.

H. G. Doyle

The office of the Dean of Women is always open to those who wish information or advice about student activities or careers. To her, the women students come for advice in regard to their educational problems, personal and social affairs; in short, anything that touches the life of the women students of the University, is her particular care and interest. Through her office, the orientation of new students is effected. She gives from her fund of experience to aid those who are younger and less experienced than herself. In addition to her duties as an administrative officer of the University, she gives courses in particular phases of education.

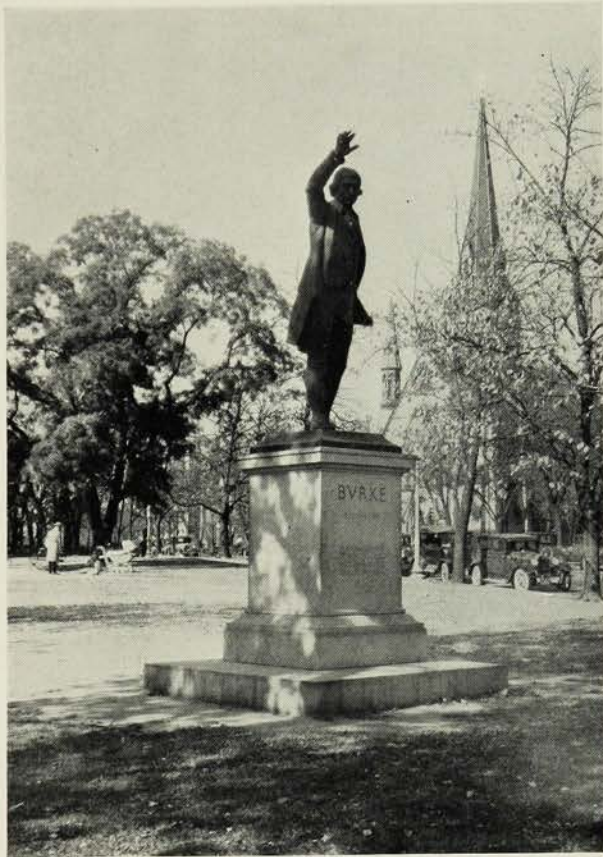

Anna F. Rose

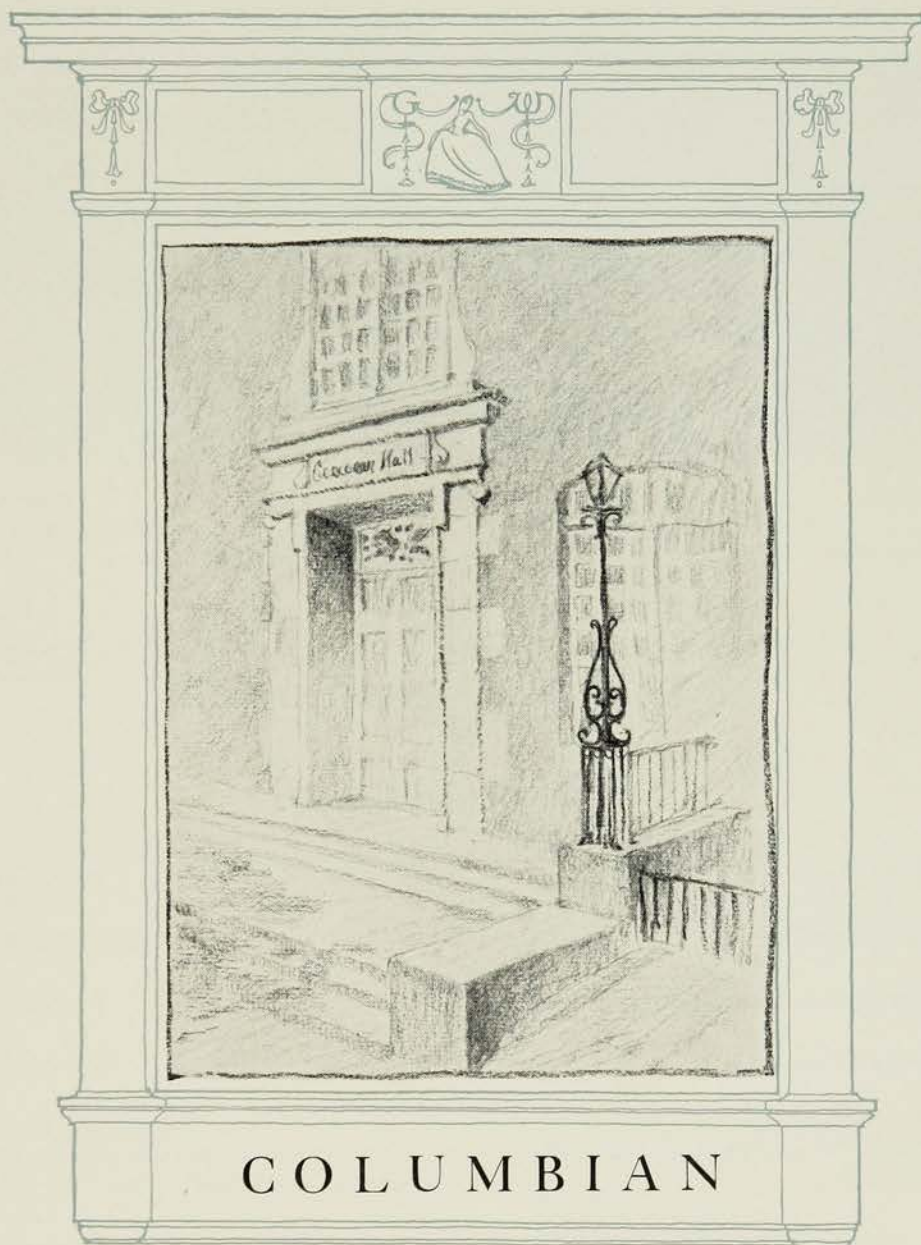

The Division of Fine Arts is a newcomer in George Washington University circles. It will celebrate its first birthday in September 1929. The Division is composed of two Departments: Architectural and Graphic Art. The Department of Architecture offers a complete academic training for the student who proposes to practice it as a profession. The degree of Bachelor of Architecture is awarded at the completion of this work. The Department of Graphic Art offers a thorough course of training in drawing for the student who is interested in art work. Specialization in the art field must then be pursued elsewhere. The degree of Bachelor of Arts with a major in Graphic Art is awarded at the completion of this work.

Thomas H. H. H. H.

The School of Government, created through an endowment of $1,000,000, given by the Southern Jurisdiction of the Scottish Rite Free Masonry, is in its first year of organization. This Department of the University will prepare students for service in the United States Government and for work in the field of Foreign Service. The National League of Masonic Clubs has endowed two chairs of Foreign Service in the School of Government. It has before it one of the brightest futures of any Department in the University.

THE GENERAL ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

DR. OSCAR B. HUNTER
President

It is the earnest hope of the General Alumni Association that members of the Classes of 1929 will maintain a close and lasting connection with their University through membership in the Association.

Every student automatically becomes a member of the Association for one year following graduation. Thereafter membership is continued upon payment of one dollar a year in annual dues, or ten dollars for life membership.

The graduates of the George Washington University have a very definite part in the life of the institution. They are represented on the Board of Trustees by six members of their own nomination, two of whom are elected each year for a term of three years. The privilege of the ballot is extended to members of the Association, in good standing, who have held a degree for three or more years.

Washington Alumni of the University meet each month at luncheon and from time to time throughout the year at social functions of the Association. In many of the large cities groups of Alumni have formed clubs, and newcomers from the University are made welcome.

The George Washington Medical Society was organized in 1905 to provide means for professional and social unity among the local graduates of the medical school.

To these ends it has been most successful. The large attendance at the monthly meetings is sufficient manifestation of the quality of the work being done and reported by the members before the society.

Members of the senior class at the medical school are invited to the meetings.

Following the policy of the past two years, an annual banquet was held April 20th, 1929 to which all medical alumni were invited. Practically every state in the Union was represented. The principal speaker of the evening was Dr. Frank H. Lehey of the Lehey Clinic, Boston, Massachusetts.

REVIEW OF THE SEASON

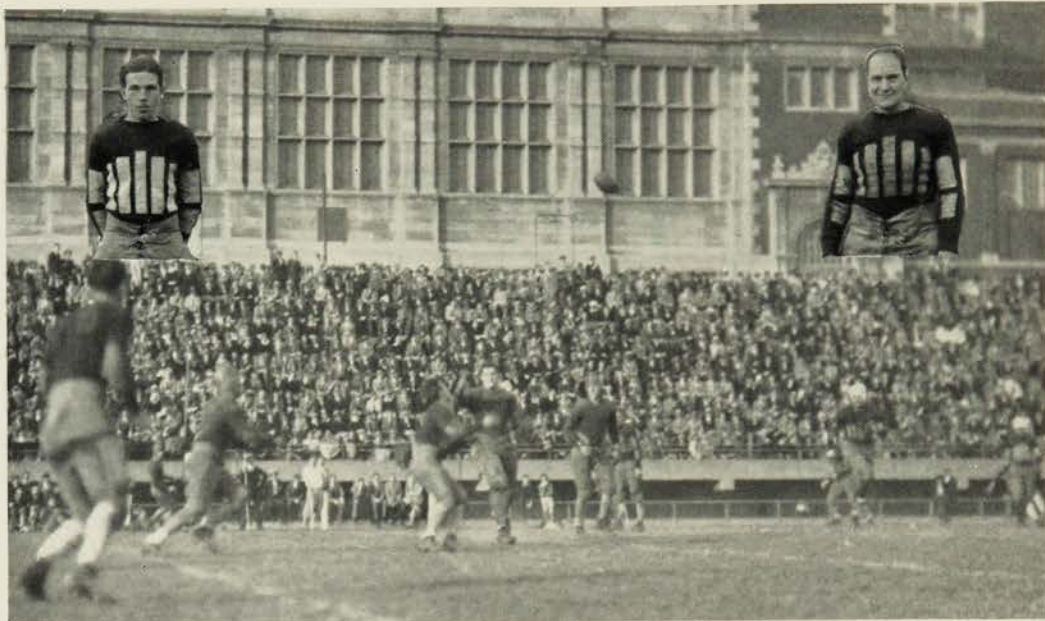

The 1928 football team was the most disastrous one in the history of George Washington. Coach Crum was again handicapped by a decided lack of material. Also misfortune in the form of injuries dogged the footsteps of the team thruout the season. Despite its many defeats the George Washington team went out fighting in an effort to achieve victory.

The opening game was played at Fordham. The powerful Fordham team rode to a 20-0 victory over the Crummen. Regardless of the score and the fact that the Colonials were undoubtedly outclassed in every phase of playing, Fordham found a real battle on its hands and was forced to expend every effort to come out victorious.

The second game on schedule was played with Lafayette. This team had attained fame as the high scoring team of the east, but it encountered such a stubborn defense on the part of G. W. that the score was held down to 28-0. In this game two of the G. W. dependables, Clapper and Sanders were hurt. Sanders was put out for the remainder of the season by his injuries.

The third defeat of the season was administered by Saint Francis with the score of 32-0. Saint Francis showed great speed and had little trouble overcoming the G. W. opposition. The Colonials were greatly weakened by the loss of three of the regular backfield men, but played gamely thruout the unequal contest.

A heavier and superior opponent downed G. W. in its first home game when City College of New York administered a 33-0 beating to the Colonials. The home team had little driving force and made only short gains which were of little help. The game had few high spots, G. W. being on the defensive thruout. By this game the New Yorkers avenged their defeat of the preceding years.

Another defeat was administered by the William and Mary team to the tune of, 24-0. The game was far from unequal in so far as football tactics were concerned, the Crummen showing real fighting qualities and aggressiveness. However luck was with the Indians who took advantage of their several chances. Also when Carey was removed on account of injuries the Colonial team was still more crippled.

The game with Penn State resulted in another defeat with a 50-0 score. The Colonials were entirely outclassed altho they put up a splendid battle and kept the score from going higher than it did. Indeed at several times during the game the Crummen made serious scoring threats. The entire team put forth every effort to make a creditable showing altho an injury put Lopeman out of the game and increased the difficulties.

The American University game brought a ray of sunshine out of the densest clouds. In this game G. W. had its opponents well in hand and displayed real punch and came out on the long end of a 19-0 score. In every department of the game the Colonial team showed up well and the brilliant plays of some of the team members added to the glory of the afternoon.

The last contest of the season was the annual clash with Catholic University which brought to a disastrous end a most disastrous year. The Colonials were overwhelmed by the Cardinals 40-8 in a game in which the Crummen were very much outclassed. Altho a great deal of the luck went to C. U., there was no question of that team's superiority over G. W. However the Colonials again demonstrated the gameness and fight in their final game that they had shown all year.

REVIEW OF THE SEASON

The 1928-29 basketball season was one of the most disastrous ever experienced by a team representing George Washington University. The record shows the quintet won but two of the ten games played, having a percentage of only .200. However, the season cannot be considered a total failure because a victory was achieved over our arch rivals, Catholic University, by a score of 33-23 in the last game of the season. The other victory was registered over the quintet representing the Virginia Medical College.

When Coach Crum issued the call for candidates, he found that he would be without the services of Goodson, Perry, Carey and Sapp, dependables of last year's victorious team. Allshouse, Barrows, and Gray, who had played in but a few games, were the only veterans on hand. Newcomers who played exceptionally well considering their inexperience were Snow, Fine, Lamphere, and Thacker.

The season was opened in the George Washington gym with American University as our opponent. Our green team played exceptionally well in the first half, which ended with the score reading 15-11 in favor of the Eagles. However, the Colonials weakened perceptibly in the second half, scoring only one foul shot, while the visitors tallied 18 points. It was unfortunate that such a strong team had to be encountered in the first game of the year.

SNOW

ALLSHOUSE

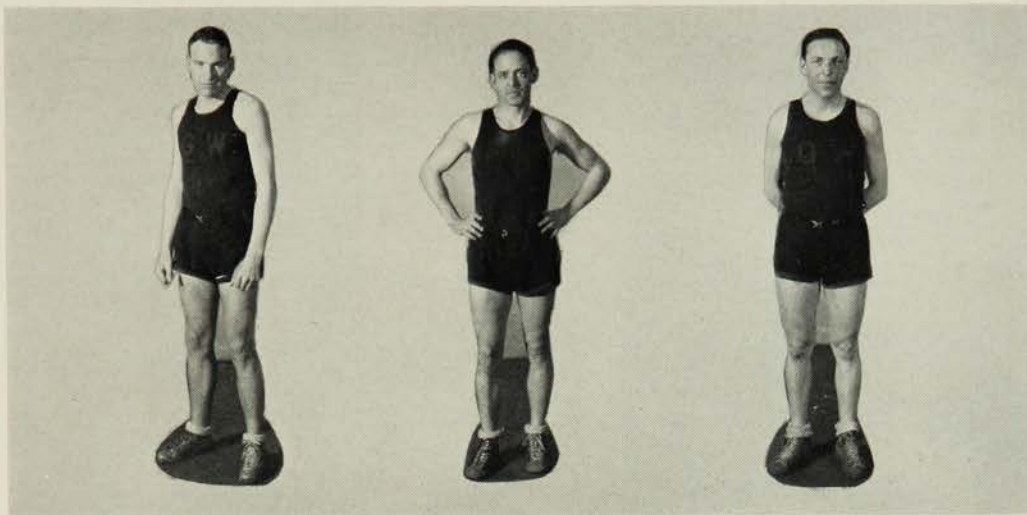

In their second game the Colonials showed much improvement over their initial contest, when they extended the speedy quint representing Baltimore U. in a game ending 32-27 in favor of the visitors. As in the first game, the Hatchetites seemed unable to continue their pace throughout a whole game, but an improvement was noted in the general team work.

Against Gallaudet, the G. W. players were unable to cope with the speed and accurate shooting of Delmar Cosgrove, high point scorer of the District. Once more the Colonial players matched their opponents point for point until the closing minutes of the game, when the Silents pulled away to win, 39-29.

In the Navy game, our team seemed lost in the enormous gym at Annapolis and were completely outclassed by the Middies.

In the second American U. game, which was played at the Eagles' gym, the G. W. players played their best game of the season up to that time. The contest was very close and replete with thrills galore. The Eagles put on steam in the last quarter and the game ended 35-29 in their favor.

The Hatchetites were again outplayed and showed to a disadvantage against their much heavier, much larger, and much faster opponents from Davis-Elkins College of West Virginia. The Scarlet Hurricane was perhaps the best team the Colonials opposed during the entire season.

LAMPHERE

FINE

The Bucknell game proved to be little more than a replica of the previous game and resulted in a most humiliating defeat of our players by a score of 46-19.

With their backs to the wall and feeling smartly the stings of seven consecutive losses, the Colonials rose with a vengeance and downed the Medical College of Virginia with an avalanche of baskets. The final score was 45-21. In this game little Irvin Fine broke loose and scored 19 points.

The Crummen's first encounter with Catholic U. resulted in a 21-15 victory for the Cardinals. Our men seemed unable to adjust themselves to the spacious C. U. gym.

However, in the return engagement played on our court, the Colonials showed a decided superiority in gaining an easy 33-23 decision over their rivals. The Hatchetites jumped into an early lead in the first half which ended with the score 16-13. Scoring points almost at will in the second half, the Colonials soon put the game away. Fine with 18 points was the individual star of the game, but he was ably assisted by Bill Snow, who scored 8 points, and Bobby Gray, who played a matchless defensive game.

Although the Colonials did not enjoy much success this year, the outlook is for better things next season. Practically the entire team will return and great things are expected of them, because of the experience gained by working together on the court this season.

REVIEW OF THE SEASON

The outdoor season of the varsity rifle team opened soon after favorable weather set in. Only one team match was fired, and that against the U. S. Naval Academy, who were handily defeated by the G. W. shots. The main events in the past outdoor season were the matches fired in conquest of the National Rifle Association Service Rifle Championship. The George Washington marksmen weathered every opponent and emerged victorious. At Annapolis the final match was fired and the wearers of the Buff and Blue returned home bearing the crown significant of the Championship of the National Rifle Association. The varsity team was composed of Captain Frank Parsons, Jr., Manager George Campbell, William Lane, Robert Leighy, Hugh Riley, Richard Radue and Harry Parsons. William Lane was the high man in the Championship match and one of the outstanding shots of the entire outdoor campaign.

Soon after school opened notice was sent out for candidates to report for positions on the George Washington rifle squad. A goodly number answered the annual call and prospects for the coming season appeared bright, even though only one man from the previous year's team reported. Last year's successful captain returned in a new role—that of coach for the varsity squad.

The squad started a series of preseason matches with the National Guards and the George Washington Alumni. Unfortunately the boys had not yet gotten their range and dropped these contests to their opponents. A match with West Virginia concluded the contests until the National Rifle Association Championship Matches.

The country is divided into several sections of seven or eight schools to a section. These schools shoot matches between themselves to determine the section champion. Then the several section champions come together and fire matches to decide the champions of the country. So far four of the seven section matches have been fired. George Washington winning from Johns Hopkins, and Georgetown, and losing to Virginia Military Institute, with the results of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute match pending official sanction. A shoulder to shoulder match against Navy resulted in a victory for the Middies on March ninth.

The varsity members are Captain William Lane, Manager John Ball, Arturo Domelden, Lucien I. Kerns, Theodore Harrell, Firth Marquis, Harold Jenkins and F. Reisinger. Domelden, Kerns and Harrell have been the outstanding shots during the present indoor season, and have counted many wins to their credit. Telegraphic matches remain with Maryland, Western Maryland and the U. S. Naval Academy. Massachusetts Institute of Technology and the Intercollegiate Championship Matches will be fired shoulder to shoulder. Considering the handicap of an inexperienced team, the George Washington riflers have made a formidable record and have put up creditable opposition to all of their opponents.

VARSIITY BASKETBALL

This year's Varsity Basketball Team developed itself, with the aid of Miss Eugenia Davis, into one of the fastest known in the history of the University. The first of the season did not look very promising as no center was left from last year and no other seemed available. But as a result of careful training and hard practice all positions were filled with competent players.

In the center field Julia Denning and Dorothy Albert kept one another going at tip-top speed by both competing for the same position, which either filled well. Jenny Turnbull played an excellent game at side center while Mary Sproul was not far behind. In the forward territory Naomi Crumley kept up her usual game of accurate shooting and quick passing, while Louise Berryman, Martha Benenson and Marion Lum did excellent work in the same field. Evelyn Folsom, Betty Zimmerman and Jean Sime formed a combination in the guard territory that was hardly penetrable. In addition there was ever ready a line of "subs" prepared to fill any position.

Games were played with American University, Drexel University, Hood College, William and Mary and Swarthmore College. Probably the most interesting game of the year was the first one which was with American University. Much of the material was new which made this more or less a test of the strength of the team.

The George Washington University girls rifle team probably holds the best inter-collegiate record of any team. During the past seven years only two matches have been lost and the 1926-27 and 1927-28 National Rifle Association Championship Matches were won by George Washington. The Dot and Circle trophy cup was won the past two years by this team.

Walter Stokes, the former coach, was succeeded this year by Betty Clark and Prentiss, members of the team. Mr. Stokes, former Olympic Champion, trained these girls in such a way that under their guidance the team maintained its high standard. This year the team N. R. A. score was 2978, last year 2972, which shows that in spite of the absence of its former coach the team has been able to surpass past records. Helen Taylor, Captain for the past two years, tied for first place in the individual N. R. A. Championship match. Six of the other team members placed among the high ten. They were India Bell Corea, Naomi Crumley, Helen Humphrey, Marjorie Leighey, Arline Spencer, and Roberta Wright.

VARSITY HOCKEY

This year's varsity hockey team of George Washington University displayed the best form of any of the past seasons. Due to the team work and skill of individual players the team was able to defeat its old rival, William and Mary, for the first time.

The advance which the sport has made among major athletics of the University and intercollegiate competition in the last five years is largely due to the efforts of Mrs. Russell. She spent the first two weeks of September with most of the team members at Hockey Camp where they were trained by an English coach.

Those who did outstanding work were Martha Benenson, Jenny Turnbull, and Betty Zimmerman. The opponents seldom got by either Benenson or Zimmerman to score while Turnbull was ever ready to recover the ball. In the forward line Alice Graham and Maxine Alverson showed excellent form.

Those girls receiving major letters were: Martha Benenson, Jenny Turnbull, Betty Zimmerman, Alice Graham, Maxine Alverson, Josephine Irely, Mary Sproul, Evelyn Folsom, and Louise DuBose. Those receiving minor letters were: Ruth Chindblom, Myrtle Crouch, Katherine McCallum, Elizabeth Cates, and India Bell Corea.

The George Washington University Tennis Squad has not been defeated for the past six seasons which is a record worthy of any team. Mrs. Russell is Coach of this team and its members are chosen according to the results of the fall tournament. Most of the material for this year is new, but from the close competition shown in the tournament it means another clean record for 1929.

The spring varsity schedule includes matches with William and Mary, American University, Harrisonburg State Teachers College, and the exhibition match with Hood College. This is one of the most interesting matches of the year, as neither team plays for the sake of winning but for the sake of play.

The high five of the team are Elizabeth Wright, Marion Butler, Mary Sproul, Jenny Turnbull, and Corella Morris. Challenge matches will be played off the first two weeks of the spring tournament.

CLASS HOCKEY

Each year the inter-class hockey games are played as a preliminary to the varsity series. The players showing up best in these games are chosen for varsity material and later trained for the Varsity team. This year a new rule required that each girl must attend at least two-thirds of the practices. As a result, the inter-class teams did much better work.

The Junior-Senior team won by defeating both the Freshman and Sophomore teams. This final game was the best of the series, the score was 6-2. Most of the varsity material was chosen from these two teams.

INTER-SORORITY BASKETBALL

Inter-sorority basketball is carried on under the direction of Pan-Hellenic Association. At the end of each season a silver cup is awarded to the winning team, but in order to keep it the same team must win three times in succession. Three years ago a rule was passed saying that no sorority could use more than two varsity players or more than two alumnae players. This makes the competition much stronger and enables more sororities to compete.

Until this year a committee formed the schedules for the games, but a new plan has been adopted. The sororities are divided into two leagues, A and B, and every team of each league plays every other team of the same league. Then the winner of A plays the winner of B for the cup. This year Gamma Beta Pi won the championship for the second consecutive time.

INTER-CLASS BASKETBALL

Inter-class basketball has always been one of the most interesting series of the various sports held at the University. The schedule is arranged so that every class plays every other class. The championship is determined by the team winning the most games, the members of which are awarded class numerals.

The captains and managers of the various teams are as follows:

	Captains	Managers
Freshman	MARY DETWILER	KATHERINE McCALLUM
Sophomore	ALTHEA LAWTON	MARY SPROUL
Junior	NAOMI CRUMLEY	JOSEPHINE IREY
Senior	BETTY ZIMMERMAN	JULIA DENNING

FALL TENNIS TOURNAMENT

The Women's Fall Tennis Tournament, in October, 1928, brought out thirty-nine girls for the preliminaries. Of these eight reached the third round and these eight form the present tennis squad. They are Detwiler, Turnbull, Sproul, Laudick, E. Wright, Craven, Butler, and Morris.

The championship match between Detwiler and Turnbull showed excellent form on the part of both. The players were very well matched, and the set ended in a score of 6-4, 6-3 in favor of Detwiler. Such results promise another brilliant season for the varsity squad.

TRACK

Every Spring an inter-class track meet is held under the auspices of the G. W. Club. The fifth of these meets, for which forty-three contestants turned out, was held at the Central High School stadium in April, 1928. The Junior class, having a score of 18 points, was awarded the silver cup. The Sophomores came next with 15 points. The other scores were 13 points for the Seniors and 8 points for the Freshmen. The three highest individual scorers were: Mary Ewin, a Senior, with 13 points; Eva Pope, a Junior, with 11 points; and Naomi Crumley, a Sophomore, with 10 points.

One of the main features is an inter-sorority relay race. This event was won in 1928 by Phi Mu, Kappa Delta finishing second and Pi Beta Phi, third.

Other track events are: High Jump, 50 and 70 yard Dashes, Running Broad Jump, Discus Throw, 60 yard Hurdle and Shot Put.

Carolyn Snyder is manager of track.

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The Women's Athletic Association of George Washington University was organized in May 1928 with Julia Denning as President, Jennie Turnbull, Vice-President, Maxine Alverson, Secretary and Helen Taylor, Treasurer; Dean Rose, Mrs. Russell and Miss Davis making up the Advisory Board.

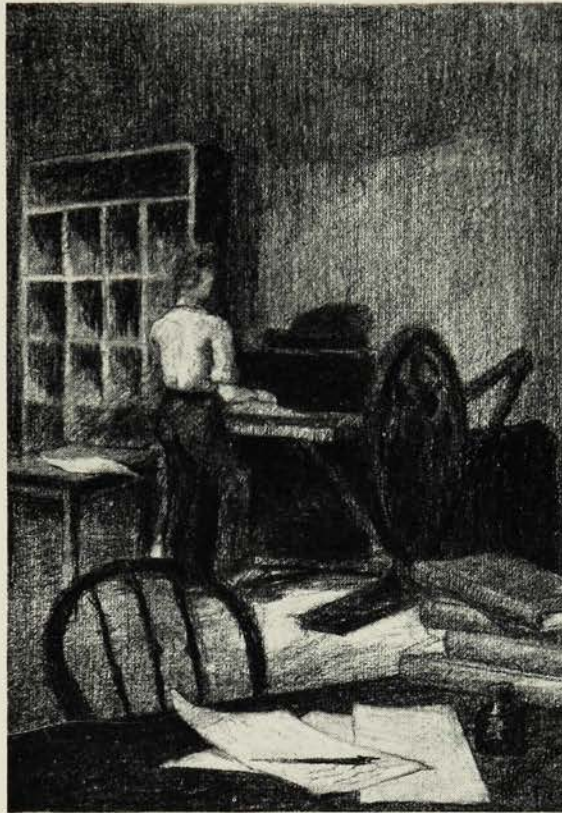

The chief aim and purpose of the Association is to further student participation in control of athletics and to formulate and put into operation rules governing athletics similar to those of other colleges.

Eligibility for active membership is based on participation in athletics to the extent of making a class team, in which case, the eligibility lasts until the end of the following season of the sport in which she has qualified, becoming manager or assistant manager in some sport, or by vote of the executive board. This board consists of the officers of the association and managers and captains of W. A. A. sports.

Major and minor letters and class numbers are awarded upon recommendation of the instructor subsequently affirmed by the Executive board. Honorary blazers are given by the association to those students having three major letters or the equivalent.

The Troubadours surpassed all previous performances in "Sometime Soon" the fourth annual musical comedy which ran from May 13 to 18, 1929 in the Wardman Park Theater.

The first act opens in the interior of a movie studio. Gordon Masters has won a collegiate movie contest and in Hollywood falls in love with Gloria Wesley, a young movie actress. Gordon is jealous of Victor Meadows who complicates things by shadowing Gloria at all times. Harry and Helen relieve the situation by a little light comedy, and the tall chorus, in overalls, dances away the blues.

The Grand Duke hires Harry to protect him against actresses and Helen suspects his intentions but Nesbitt finally convinces Helen that Harry is not flirting. Gloria and Gordon sing the theme song, "Sometime Soon." Helen sings the popular 'blues' number of the show and Ann Hartsell tells the cast she 'Can't Be Good in Hollywood', in song.

Act two takes place in Mrs. Wimpleton's garden with a lawn fete in progress. An effective waltz introduces the action as the curtain goes up. Ann Hartsell plots with her publicity man to hire Nesbitt, the assistant cameraman to take her picture in a compromising situation with the Duke for the sake of her publicity. The Duke departs suddenly for Africa and the picture is never taken. The 'American Girl' number is sung while the chorus dancers take the spotlight. Gloria and Gordon patch up their difficulties when Gordon discovers that Meadows is not a rival.

The book was written by Ralph Hilton, the music was composed by William Jemison, Daniel Beattie, Martha Stevens. General supervision of the comedy was under the direction of Dennis Connell. The dances were staged under the direction of Julia Lee Denning assisted by Donna Scott Smith and Betty Waller. The costumes were created by Margaret Parker and the settings were devised by Pern Henninger.

The George Washington Drama Club is an organization which has evolved out of the Dramatic Associations of past years. The Dramatic Association was a combination of the three older clubs, the Players, Mimes and Dionysians.

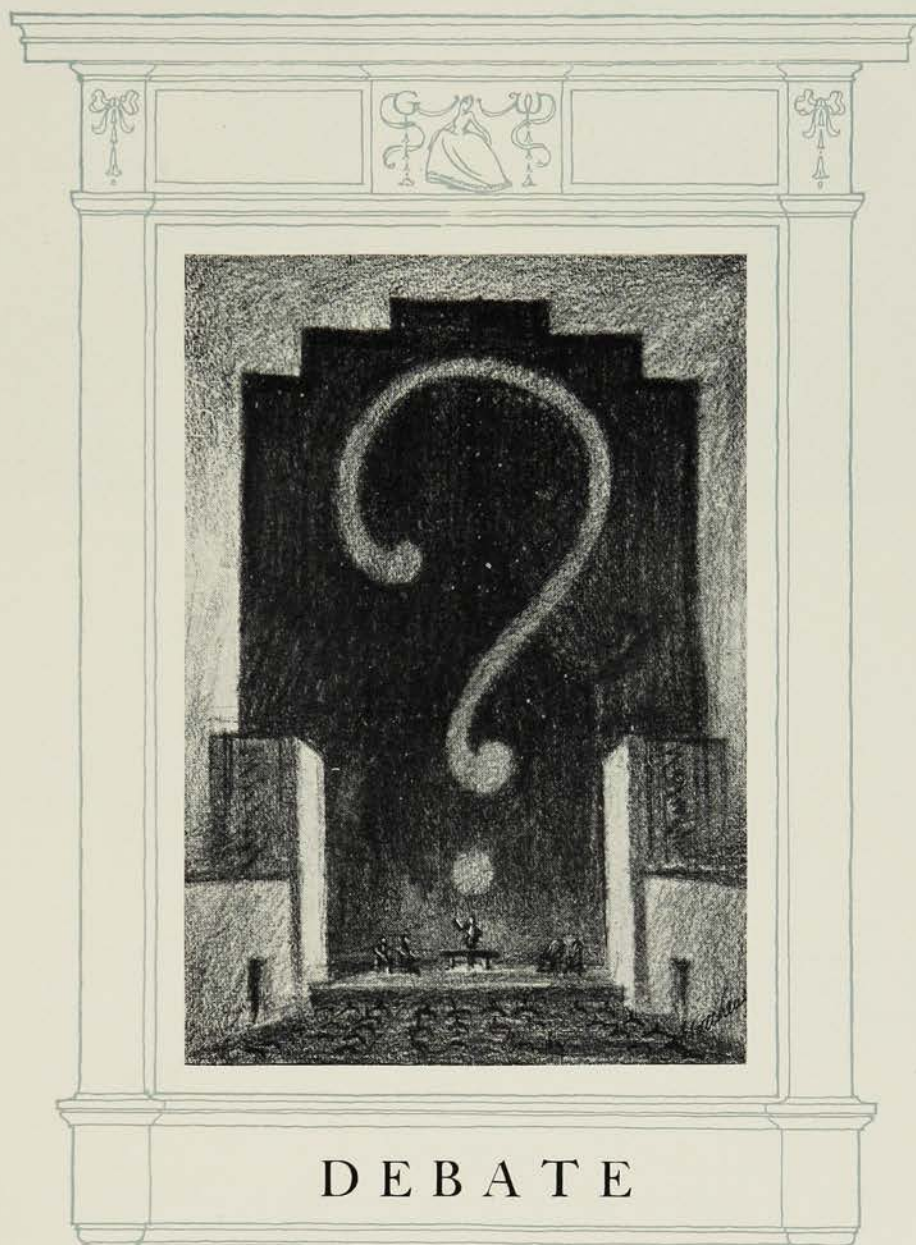

The most pretentious of the Club's efforts was the presentation of three one-act plays directed and acted by the members on Saturday, March 2, 1929.

THE WOMAN ACQUITTED by Andre de Lorde was presented by Mary Jamison, Warren Briggs, Harry Clayton, Thomas Mitchell, Fred Weitzel and Andrew Allison.

A woman is tried on the charge of strangling children and is acquitted by the jury as a result of her feminine attractions. After her acquittal she confesses to her crimes under the hypnotic influence of the doctor in the judge's private room. She is released, however, without punishment.

The second play on the program was THE SLUMP. Florence Maddon makes her husband's life unbearable for him by continued expenses and quarreling. After a more than usually dramatic quarrel Florence leaves home, threatening to drown herself. James Maddon, in despair, calls in Florence's brother, Edgar Mix, who advises him to ignore the threat. Florence returns and James continues to love and serve her despite her lack of affection or gratitude. The part of Florence Maddon is taken by Nell Childs, that of James Maddon by Richard Sawyer and the brother is Joseph Sorrell.

The final play of the evening was Susan Gaspell's SUPPRESSED DESIRES. Mary Crowley, in the part of Henrietta Brewster, Oscar Berry as Steven Brewster and Virginia Frye as Henrietta's sister Mabel made up the cast.

COUNTY FAIR

The Annual County Fair, under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A. held in the gym on November 16, was more colorful than ever, with its Gypsy booth, Dutch well of punch, Icelandic booth of Eskimo pies, candy counters, peanut, popcorn, cracker-jack and mint stands. To add to the enthusiastic tenor of the affair were the Capitol City Serenaders, who in true negro style whooped up the latest jazz. The fun continued until all the sororities had wheedled each and every male out of both money and appetite by stuffing them full of "sweet nothings" and eats of all sorts.

THANKSGIVING TEA DANCE

Following a disheartening victory for C. U. the G. W. team, though rather spent, returned to Corcoran Hall to join with the rest of the University in a tea dance which, for the circumstances, was surprisingly peppy. The strain of the game told on both players and spectators causing them to put all the "vim, vigor, and vitality" left them into such a dance that though tired few cared to be warned by the "Home Sweet Home" of Mulford's Band which closed the merrymaking promptly at eight.

"DOLLAR DANCES"

"Dollar Dances," the popular title and pass-word on the campus for the past year, has ever been the signal for a "rarin'-to-go" time for all. Insiders and outsiders "Shagged" to the n'th degree aided by Mulford's Melody Makers, the popular favorites with every G. W.-Ite.

POMEROY, Chairman

CAMPBELL

FOOTBALL HOP

December 7, 1928, the gym was again the scene of the annual Football Hop given under the auspices of the G. W. Club, with Floyd Pomeroy and George Campbell the committee in charge.

Unlike Football Hops of former years, there was a noticeably smaller crowd. And though this was "bad news" for the ticket office, it was "good news" for the dancing couples, thus permitted to enjoy the dancing. The vividness of feminine attire added a dash of color to an otherwise drab affair, void of speeches, awards, and the old G. W. pep. Possibly the steady drizzle out-of-doors was responsible for the small number present. But the scores or rather lack of scores of our team during the football season, was no doubt the main reason for the evident waning of the "Buff and Blue" spirit.

April 19	Congressional Country Club	10 to 1

The Gate and Key dance held at the Sigma Phi Epsilon House, November 23, was a complete success due to the 2 or 3 stag representatives from each fraternity house. New Year's Day was a gala one with a Tea Dance staged at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon House that proved a veritable Interfraternity gathering, stags evidenced in swarms, affording all the girls that "popular feeling." January 26, a closed formal dance was enjoyed by all Gate and Key members with the favored few, the "cream" of the sororities brought along to join in the fun. Corcoran Hall, March 4, witnessed another big open dance, as usual a financial and social success. To wind up the festivities for the year 1928 and 1929, a second closed formal was celebrated by Gate and Key, at the Congressional Country Club, April 19.

INTERFRATERNITY PROM

The annual Interfraternity Promenade held March 22 in the Willard Hotel was a "warmer" affair than expected. The weather, music, stags, favors, and Razzberry scandal sheet combined to make the peppiest, "hottest" prom on record.

From ten to twelve Emory Daugherty's Lido Band made the ball-room re-sound with its dance provoking rhythms. Then at twelve everything started to boom! Boyd Senter's Palace Syncopators took the helm and put forth double-quick time, and ear-busting music of the wildest jazz type. Next came the stags who gave the girls a merry chase and interrupted perfectly good dance programs. The Grand march under way, the fear of the committee and the hope of the girls was raised to a pitch. And after much rustling of paper, the favors were discovered to be pocketbooks bearing the G. W. seal.

The oh's and ah's of all had no sooner been voiced, than was felt a buzz of excitement, a scrambling, an uproar, then a general upheaval, culminating in the awarding of trophies, and the rapid wild-fire sale of Razzberry scandal sheet.

Little breathing space was given musicians or dancers from this time on, for a battle of music was staged between the bands which maintained a torrid temperature only subsiding at two A.M. with the end of the dance and rest for the weary who did not unwisely visit Child's.

Heading the Prom, and leading the Grand March were Henry (Bucky) Herzog escorting Emily Pilkinton, Lyman Dishman with Elizabeth Rees, Harold Farmer and Mildred (Midge) Burnham, and the last in line, William Lickliger and Lorena Carroll.

THE PAN-HELLENIC PROM

April twelfth, the annual Pan-Hellenic Prom was held in the ballroom of the Willard Hotel. McWilliams' orchestra, playing a medley of the latest popular hits, kept the crowd in a whirl of rhythm from ten till two.

During intermission several clever acts from the Troubadours were presented, with McWilliams' Band trying hard to keep up with the clogging and "Black Bottom" dancing G. W. chorus girls. This proved to those who missed the Troubadours, that the "Follies" has nothing on us for the art of terpsichore.

By two A.M., the corsages showered on the girls by their "big-hearted" escorts, had begun to wilt, as had the Tux collars, but this mattered little for the dance was now at an end.

To the chairman, Marjorie Bowman, and her committee consisting of Myrtle Crouch, Evelyn Pierson, and Margaret Selvig, credit is given for the huge success of the final social function of the year, the Pan-Hellenic Prom.

A P O L O G I A

In the first place, we extend our most humble apologies to the learned group above because they seem to have been thoughtlessly placed in the Undergraduate Section. Not every university can boast of such illustrious graduates. In fact the Board of Editors found themselves in an interesting situation when the question arose as to the correct disposal of this valuable bit of George Washingtoniana, but it was reasonably argued that the evidence must not be lost to posterity, and after all, the President was just getting his Degree of Doctor of Laws and until the academic cape was placed over his shoulders he was still an undergraduate, anyway this was better than being left out altogether.

In the second place, we feel as though an editorial explanation is forthcoming for the strange melange of material which follows in what we laughingly call the Undergraduate Section. You see, it happened this way. Like all good editors, we planned to have an orthodox lower classmen section up with the rest of the blessed, but interest in such being what it was, or more particularly, what it wasn't, we felt that such a paucity would hardly do justice to the various classes. But we recognize spirit when it is at all manifest, so we bravely face all comment and rhetorically ask, "What would you suggest in a case like this?"

The interesting collection which follows represents those members of the lower classes who, either from a love of publicity or a most remarkable school spirit, were moved to make the annual pilgrimage to the photographers and submit themselves to the rude gaze of the public. Let us hope it was the latter motive.

On next page we present certain officers of the Freshman Class. Don't ask who or why. The most interesting thing about class offices at George Washington is the way they are sought after by the Greek Letter organizations each election time. The only function exercised by the lucky contestants is that of appearing annually in the yearbook, that is, if they remember by that time just what class they are in, or what particular office their order handed out to them when caucus was held. Being pawns of the game, they cannot be blamed if they permit such honor to rest so lightly upon their shoulders.

According to the evidence above, the Queen remains on the board guarded by a knight and the King. So we are checkmated, and confess our failure to do anything about it. (Never mind, the space will soon be filled, and then you can turn over to see what comes next.)

Below to the left represents the efforts of our able Photograph Editor who started out to get among other things, a picture of the pledges of each sorority on the campus. That she was unable to secure the likeness of her own Fraternity group may be explained by that old bromidium concerning a prophet.

We present the Kappa Delta pledges all dressed up for initiation or promising or pledging or something, right in front of their house on Aitch Street. On the right you will find two charming little girls with a great faith in human nature, Marion Lee Rains and Mary Bates, pledges of Gamma Beta Pi.

JUST A GROUP OF UNDERGRADUATES WHO TOOK TIME OFF FROM THEIR STUDIES TO POSE FOR THIS UNUSUAL STUDY OF COLLEGE LIFE AND A FEW OF THE TYPES TO BE FOUND IN EVERY UNIVERSITY.

To identify this group would cause us considerable embarrassment, as well as those identified, as a casual glance at the opposite page will testify. We are told it is the Sophomore class of Columbian College, but some of them ran to the back of the line and got in on the Junior Class picture too, so we ask you.

A presentation of the Sophomore class would be a complete failure without a picture of its most colorful standard bearer and president, one Theodore Roosevelt Chapin. Ted was just retiring when the hurry up call from the Cherry Tree Office came for him to furnish his copy sine die. Ted responded nobly and received the heartfelt thanks of the harassed Staff for his untiring efforts on behalf of the 1929 Cherry Tree.

THE REALLY WORTHWHILE MEMBERS OF THE JUNIOR CLASS OF COLUMBIAN COLLEGE AND A FEW OTHERS. THE TWO BOYS ON THE LEFT ARE THE SUTER TWINS, NOTED FOR THEIR LIKENESS TO EACH OTHER.

Well, well, well, here we are at the Junior page already. Not bad,—not good—but altogether adequate. The representation of this group fell upon the Secretary, Helen Kerr, Alpha Delta Pi, and Army Child, extraordinary. Helen had to move away due to the exigencies of the Service but we hope she will visit us some time.

“Glorious Betsy” Booth is the Vice-President of the Junior Class, a member of the Board of Editors of the Hatchet, Dramatics Editor of the Cherry Tree and a very charming person withal. You know most journalistic girls are so—so—very, if you get what I mean.

Precious Parsons the fuzzy headed crack rifle shot who has no luck in getting a man.

Maxine Alverson, who listed the Baby Party as an Activity. We don't explain our jokes.

Pern Henninger, who hasn't the courage of his convictions. Had a dozen squeegees ordered after he wrote the editorial in the Hatchet.

The CHERRY TREE

We are very fortunate in having for our starting place Quigley's Drug Store. This famous resort is known city wide by all students of George Washington and their friends. It has been used as most anything from a ladies lounge to a fraternity meeting place. Refreshments are provided as long as you have the usual nickel for your own Coca Cola. In leaving here it is but a short distance to the Registrar's office where our dearly beloved Professor Sutton holds forth in all his glory.

Our next point of interest is Corcoran Hall. It is here that our students meet their Professors and take their daily naps; in fact most of the co-eds of the school manage to get their beauty sleep here between the hours of nine and one thus giving it somewhat the aspect of a beauty parlor.

A few minutes stroll from here we find the office of Drs. Ragatz, West, Holt, Young. The first named is very popular with his co-eds to whom he has dedicated some of his literary works and in fact he has been known to escort some of them to luncheon. The other three are his contemporaries in the History Department but not with the co-eds.

A short distance away the Goddess of Womens Athletics holds forth, in a gorgeous red brick Temple which is situated next to the Tin Tabernacle or The Gymnasium.

Around the corner we find historic Stockton Hall, where abides the legal department. We understand that here the boys learn law, but we are not quite sure nor have we been able to find out at this date. In checking up we find that most of them seem to take a special course in Green Lantern.

A few steps away we find our builders office, in other words the Engineer's Office.

Around another corner we find the office of the Dean of Women. This presided over by a very charming lady known as the Dean of the Roses.

Next door is the Dean of Men in whose office there are always plenty of men, but we think that they come to see the Dean's Secretary and Not The Dean.

Next in our line of travel is Building Six, the torture rooms for most of our Five Thousand Students, Especially the Sigma Nus.

The next majestic building is the library, on the second floor of which is Dean Hill's Office, famous for its ingenious method of being excused from classes.

Buildings Two and Three contain more torture rooms and the Substitute S. A. E. House, otherwise the Hatchet office which is presided over by Herb Angel (God Bless Him) and his partner in crime, Frank Kreglow.

The CHERRY TREE

The Mansion nearby is the Administration Building which is opposite the Architectural School where the Sigma Nu Goats get out of Hell Week Because they have to work so late.

Now let us cross the campus. On the other side we find Building Ten which houses the Home Economics Department, Sigma Kappa, Phi Mu, Chi Omega Sororities. Immediately following is Building Nine in which the Sisters of Pi Beta Phi, Gamma Beta Pi, Alpha Delta Pi and Delta Zeta abide. Crossing the Campus Again (Beware of the Street Car) we find that Den of iniquity "The Food Shop." Here the members of the sororities and fraternities indulge in their daily dissipations. Bridge games and wise-cracks fly indiscriminately and many a date is made and broken. It is also here that many a good reputation is ruined.

Leaving here we come upon the Campus again, the only one of its kind in the world, that is to say it is solid concrete with a street car through the middle.

And last but not least is the twentieth stop on our tour, the gorgeous park of our school.

Ladies and Gentlemen we bid you come and enjoy this marvelous tour shown on the map on the preceeding page. Expenses are small, in fact you need only the nickel for your Coca Cola mentioned in the first stop.

We Thank You.

A FEW WISE CRACKS

George Weeks—"I could dance on like this forever."

Billie Wright—"Don't say that, you will improve with time."

Dean Wilbur (poetically)—"Oh! What is so rare as a day in June."

Swope—"A red headed Chinaman."

Futterer—"Remember, son, that beauty is only skin deep."

Ruddiman—"That's enough for me, I'm no cannibal."

When theres nothing to say Charlie Jaquette says it.

Don calls Dinky seven days because she makes him weak.

Emily Pilkinton is like an Umpire because she never thinks Bill is safe when he is out.

Jens Jenson thinks that Edison would be more popular with the younger set if he hadn't invented the electric light.

The CHERRY TREE

And it was in a land where none spaketh anything save the truth, and many marvels were revealed to me in this land. These marvels will I now relate, for as I know them and will profit thereby so you should know of them and act accordingly during the remaining days that ye shall spend in this University.

Those who dwelt in this land were of uncanny mind, for well knew they the deeds of us which we hold as secrets, but, aye! they were told to me and now I will tell you that which I have learned.

Their marvels revealed were as follows:

* * * * *

There dwelt in a "little green house" those who were given by name as Delta Tau Deltas, and who by that name had also been dubbed the title of the "Drink Till Death" order.

Ere this group had gained possession of their green home, so the wise men said, there once had been some of the most prominent of the town's leaders, who used this home, not for a home, nay! but for a drinking and gambling den. Not to be outdone, and merely for the sake of keeping pace with their predecessors those of the little green house who now hold forth continued their folly in a most comprehensive fashion.

I was told of a lad who was seen verily lying in a corner, not because he was lazy, but because he could not get up, so full was he with the contents of a barrel which sat in the center of the floor and from which there was a tube leading to his mouth. His name was "Sir Gin Drops, II."

Another of the Drink Till Death members, famed he was by his activities on the football field, was continually standing outside of the house, not because he did not want to gain entrance, but because he was of the overgrown feet and for that reason could not get in. Christopher was his name, and with him was another of the same big feet variety, by name Eberle. Both of these stalwarts won renown on the field of battle which was a gridiron, but here it was their feet again which caused their success. With their feet lined across the field, these two stopped the opponents so they could not get past.

* * * * *

Then, I was told of a people who dwelt in a morgue, for though it was not a morgue, it was a morgue, as so little was the life inside this house that the sages to whom I talked looked on it as such. This house was termed the Acacia house. Only at football season did one member stir, and outside of that time Babe Clapper was never seen again nor heard of until the next year.

The CHERRY TREE

The Good Knight George Spangler was accused at times of being undefeated as a man to pledge freshmen. At this art he surpassed all his brother members and many wondered why. In this land of marvels I was told that freshmen never walked out of the house if they had been talked to by George—they always stumbled.

* * * * *

The truth speakers told of another people called the Theta Delta Chis, who were a progressive clan, but whose every progressive step resulted in a retrogressive step. This group would be popular socially, would be actively participating in school life, would be the rah, rah leaders, and would be nearly every kind of leader, if only they could and if only they knew how to get the boys to do it with. They started out by bringing in their fathers and forefathers to talk the freshmen bleary so that they could sock them with the well known pledge button. The old men talked, but the season met with no more success than in previous years.

Their next step was to be "Cheerwriters," and they produced a sickening sort of noise that resembled a hog yell, which they have never forgotten and which every one else in the school wishes they would soon forget. After a year's work on the co-eds of the school they have two who have clung like a vine. Thus, there are two people besides the Theta Delts who think that the Theta Delts are some good. Among them is one Terrible Bill Thompson, who can do anything and everything better than anybody else, but who some how or other never gets around to it. Ask him, he'll tell you he can, though. And how could I have forgotten dear little Frannie, who, with his family is ready at any time to do "anything for dear old Theta Delta." If the chapter can't do it, the Tompkins family will.

* * * * *

"A house divided against itself cannot stand," said the seers, in speaking of the Kappa Sigma sisters. Discuss this statement, they did not, but as I ponder over it, they probably had reference to the house having a front and back door. And it was suggested that the reason these boys never invited Janet Sheppard to a party was because it was too close to home for her. What everybody likes about Charlie Birdseye is that straight-forward manner of his and the pleasant way he has when he carries on a conversation. And what I call showing "good will toward men" was exemplified by Charlie Baldwin during the Xmas holidays. After arranging himself a week of dates with his "one and only," a rival comes in town and Charlie courteously says, "My dear friend, Joe Olsen, you have not seen Ruth for quite a while and I will be here for the rest of the year, you can have every date I have with her as long as you're here." And we still see Charlie and Ruth going around together. Ain't that a pity?

The CHERRY TREE

The Gate and Key Society wants to let Mr. Kenneth Popham know that a secretary for the organization is not excused from every meeting of the year. That's all right Pop, when the meeting was held at the K. A. house, not a K. A. was present.

There were several other remarks passed about the Kappa Sigs as I listened to the wise men talk, but let's not speak of the baser things of life.

* * * * *

Then spake the seers of a house wherein live the Sigma Chis—and auxiliary. Among those who dwell herein, said they is a goodly number of they who have been stricken by the plague of cupid's arrow. Continually must they suffer as long as they are caught in such a swindle, for those who wear their pins are not always what the "Sigma Chi Sweetheart" is pictured as being. Lo! for they play not true always but are at times subjected to the proverbial sweet-talk of other men on the campus. He who loveth is not responsible, so Ward French is not always to blame for the antics he goes through in the upstairs library in the afternoons when some villain has stolen his fair Caroline off in a corner.

Robust Little Jerry Sickler, of Sigma Chi fame, at last has been caught in the net of Cupid that has been dragged through the Sigma Chi domicile. Even though he continues his aire of nonchalance, those who have discovered our secrets, say that since Alice came to our fair school, Mr. Ginsberg Sickler has been in wonderland. They have yet to figure out why Jerry will go to another fraternity dance on the night of a Sigma Chi party.

In her net, during the past year, Eros has captured Brookhart, Edmonston and at one time had Littlepage, but he played cozey and freed himself—or got freed.

As to the future of this house—if some new athletes come to school and don't get any other bid, Sigma Chi will pledge 7, a goodly number.

* * * * *

Cockaded in their fortress at Connecticut and Florida avenues, the Saint Peter Entrants, as the wise men to whom I talked called them, the S. P. E's have a position of vantage for due to their view from the front room windows, they have learned every good party apartment in the city. Not that they make use thereof, but any time one would seek a quiet little apartment for a "quiet little party," stop in and see the boys there.

The CHERRY TREE

For instance, Jim Healy never would be of they that go in for apartment parties, for too much is he burdened with his pursuit of education. Nor Bill Shaw, whose dislike for women has kept him closed up in his room each night.

Had it not been for the importation the S. P. E's brought in from California this year the co-eds of the school would never have voted the prize for dancing to this house, but when Louis Roberts gets to doing the California tip-toe one can think of nothing else, so the fair sex say.

* * * * *

You know, said the seers, there dwells up on Sixteenth Street a fraternity by name Sigma Alpha Epsilon, they of the huge house with the well-known kitchen—and what goes on in that kitchen! They told me that by making inquiry of Red Thompson more could be learned of that time-honored room. And, added they, speaking of that name, Thompson, it is said that the brethren therein are put to task in prying Nat (the youth with the car and nothing else) away from THE Hotel and mother.

Famed among them are: Babe Whyte, G. W. Beau Brummel; Wick Jones, gifted as a beauty parlor's delight and despair; Jack Corcoran, ye proverbial intellectual; Howard Texter, tall, handsome and player of the banjo, whose looks fairly break hearts; Frank Kreglow, whom Pond's Cream advertising Company has verily been chasing for an endorsement; T. Wolford authority on Hair-raising; Ward Parker, he who so seldom smiles that when he does it snows, and Lover Adams, thus far known to be the only person more silent than Cal Coolidge.

Taken as a whole, these lads are a highly capable group. They back school activities to the limit (as long as it doesn't cost too much). They are ever there with the noise. Whenever one hears Whoopee! Crash! Bang the S. A. E's are right with us. We understand they even demoralize Bell Haven Dances.

This fraternity is notorious for passing rules making goats do what they won't do themselves—for instance having pictures taken for the Cherry Tree.

S. A. E. traditions will no doubt be studied by research workers of 2929 with much interest. Their quaint custom of throwing Bal Bohemes, their fondness for throwing milk bottles around, the now almost extinct organization of Short Horns, playing circle, and lending their company to the peculiar creatures known in the twentieth century as flappers at lunch providing the flappers pay for their own lunch (witness Janet Sheppard and Claire Beckham).

* * * * *

To a fair supporter, the worldly-wise ascribe the success or failure—of the Sigma Nu order within the past year. Little Myrtle, diplomatic, unsuspecting and all that sort of what-have-you, has, for no good reason, given her all for dear old Sigma Nu. Probably she is a goodly part of the cause for Sigma Nu now having a chapter in nearly every school but Howard University, contributing her brother and Floyd Ormsby and making sure Louis Natkemper doesn't lose any spirit.

The local chapter is doing its part to uphold the expansion movements of the organization and in February initiated 14 men, pledging for the year a total of 25 or 26.

It is foretold that Charley Maze and Prof. Elmer Kayser have started a brotherhood all of their own and that there has grown considerable doubt as to whether "Ossie" Farmer is the real Sheik he is supposed to be or not.

If at any time you want to get in on the know of the grand total of all the "dirt" in the school, turn in your request to Walter Colison, for he knows the sum of what Winnie Beall and "Pud" Loeffler know, and what those two don't know doesn't happen.

* * * * *

I was told that in the house of the Kappa Alpha Order there always appeared to be a large crowd and that in this house one was always jammed to the walls by the other three people who happened to be therein. However, versatility is shown in the ranks of this order as marked by "Terry, the Lover," "Davis, the Athlete," "Heron, the Pugilist," "Marshall, the Diplomat," and "Futterer, the Consistent."

There has been an unsettled question in regards to the emblem or the order owned by "Terry, the Lover," as to whether it really is his or is lent to him at intervals by one Janet Sheppard. One thing is certain, he has no say about the matter.

And it was also learned from the sages that the only thing that "Bobo" Davis got out of playing on the football squad was missing a lot of dates with Billie Wright.

As for the Pugilistic Heron, he probably has more battles with the D. T's than with any other opponent he has known.

Pigeon Marshall leads the chapter in all diplomatic affairs because of the way he gets off his line with the fair students of the university. He has told the same line to every one of them but Dean Rose.

Futterer, the Consistent won his title by being always the same at any party. His consistency lies in the fact that he can always lean against a door or wall and say "O. K., Old Man," even if he does have trouble keeping his feet.

The CHERRY TREE

Getting off to a glorious start, with twenty-three new boarders, the Phi Sig's highest ambition—a stately fraternity row overlooking the Eye Street boulevard—was sent to oblivion when the Tompkins-Thets Delt Corporation moved from the slums. But what does a little thing like that mean to any organization with a leader like Georgie Von, god-father of all the Freshman co-eds. Along with Barney Conger, master of the “Phi Sig Shuffle,” these two take care of all social “Doings” sponsored by this Club.

However, George is a capable youth, and so, though a victim of being the under-dog of many of the diplomatic political corps of our dear college, has found time to call a meeting now and then of the Inter-fraternity Council, and so has carried the standard of Phi Sigma Kap-pay.

It seems that the traditional Phi Sig question, “Are you a 10-second man?” must have been waived when the big campus man T. B. Jacquette was pledged. But he is not to be condemned cause he does his bit in playing “sucker” for several of the Pi Phi French students.

My! Oh My! we nearly forgot to mention Bobby Gray—student, lover and athlete. We're sorry, but we just aren't used to seeing a man with such qualities as these in the Eye Street Club.

Although the gallantes for the T. U. O. house continue to put up a bold front and chase merrily about hither and thither they have become distracted during the last few months because of their failure to settle the seemingly unsolvable problem “What are we going to do when Bucky graduates?” Even the presence of Jum Suter and his large scope of knowledge about everything has, as usual, been unable to answer the great question.

Bucky Herzog, seen, heard and known for miles around, has led the prom, has presided over Gate and Key, has managed teams and done everything else for Theta Upsilon Omega. However, the dear brothers, while doing nothing else, forgot to take notice of his technique, and so are going to have to listen to Jim Suter's ideas for the rest of time unless another Bucky comes along.

The CHERRY TREE

G. W.'s MOST OUTSTANDING CO-ED—Winnie Beall makes everything good that comes along. Hour Glass, Troubadors, Walter, and people in general. And why not. Isn't she everything a girl should be?

SHORT BUT SWEET—Myrtle Crouch always manages to claim some of our attention. She may be little but oh my how clever and capable. And what a lot she carries on her slim shoulders. She interests us not a little.

CO-ED SHOWS PROMISE AS A DRAMATIC ACTRESS—We hear that Mary Crowley the pride and joy of the K. D.'s has recently been offered the part of deserted wife in "Way Down East." Congratulations Mary. You'll soon be on Broadway. Give the little girl a big hand, boys.

PET THEORY BLASTED.—We always claimed that no girl could have more than three or four dates with Billie Lichlider but Lorena Carroll has shot our little theory all to pieces. She has that young man running around in circles and voting Chi Omega instead of Pi Phi.

YOUNG WASHINGTON GIRL WINS SITTING CONTEST.—Betsy Hoge has just won all ribbons as the sittinest girl in the world. Miss Hoge takes her fame with calm ease and grace and says she found it a simple thing to do, by choosing nice comfortable cars and a different boy for each sitting.

A BIG GIRL WITH LITTLE POSSIBILITIES.—Julia Denning is President of the Senior Class. It is the first time anything so unheard of has been known at G. W. This with the experience she has acquired in the running of Chi Omega for the past two years ought to assure her a prominent place in the affairs of the world.

JUST A LOUD BELLE FROM RICHMOND.—"Dinky" Harrison comes to us from old Virginy and has certainly made the G. W. co-eds sit up and take notice in guarding their men. Her first remark when asked for a date is "You must have heard about me," We're not exactly sure what is meant by this, but we hear the boys, particularly the S. A. E's. are advocating more girls like Dinky.

The CHERRY TREE

ELEANOR GLYNN'S ORIGINAL S. A. GIRL.—Only it's not an appeal with Iris it's a yell. She does plain and fancy languishing, but she sure knows her onions—they leave no traces on her pure young breath.

PROM TROTTER EXTRODINARIE.—Pretty Miss Helen Taylor is flying from Dartmouth, to Washington and Lee, then back to Dear Old George Washington. She thus manages to keep Ray interested and worried.

FLAPPER ENACTS BEDROOM SCENE FOR SPELL BOUND CROWD IN FAMOUS DRUG STORE.—"Not a cough in a car-load," giggled Miss Margaret Cook as she reclined luxuriously on both of Dr. Quigley's chairs inhaling deeply of her Old Golds. What will these young upstarts come to next.

MUCH FETED FRESHMAN.—Geraldine Free has been wondering all year what it is all about, and now the rest of us are wondering. She is much overrated and unconscious, but she has lovely eyes and is just as happy as though she had good sense.

COME AND SEE THE ONLY ONE OF ITS KIND.—Sally Osborne is a rare specimen, she is beautiful but not dumb. This is a recent discovery, however, for last year she was at the head of our large class of dumb women. We don't know whether the S. A. E. influence caused the change or whether Santa Claus just answered her prayers.

YOUNG GIRL PRESS AGENT.—There's no need to tell you anything about Ruth Campbell, she tells it all herself. She is her own publicity man. Whenever conversation runs low just bring up the subject of Ruth, Charlie and Joe and you have a topic with many possibilities to keep you busy the rest of the evening.

A LITTLE GIRL FROM THE WEST.—And so Moe Cornwall and the rest of the boys have learned the Indian war cry "Whoopee". This little girl is stirring the blood of the Braves at George Washington.

The CHERRY TREE

NOMINATED FOR THE HALL OF FAME.—Anyone who can be as consistently popular as Billie Wright gets all our votes. Liked by girls as well as boys, which is one of the true tests of popularity Billie's reputation will live long after she herself has left us.

FRATERNITY AND SORORITY COOPERATE.—Miss Kitty Boykin rallied the forces of Theta Delta Chi and Chi Omega to assist her in the winning back Jimmie from another woman. We wonder how long she will keep him, and how Eddie, who has been the strange interlude, likes it. Oh! Inconsistency, thy name is woman.

MISS AUBREY DANILSON STARTLES COACH CRUM BY APPLYING FOR A PLACE ON THE 1929 FOOTBALL TEAM.—Aubrey, after having been ably coached by one of our very young Professors in the gentle art, thinks she can show the team a few tricks. Miss Danilson's application was refused however, because Crum says that the young lady is always in a huddle, and thats not good football.

SOCIETY GIRL INVOLVED IN HEART BALM SUIT.—Carolyn Jackson, popular member of the younger set is being sued by Mr. Ward French, prominent man about town for heart balm. Mr. French admits that Miss Jackson's adorable baby talk is a bait for any man and that this young lady has a hard time rejecting her suitors. However to quote Mr. French, "Such Duplicity is disgusting."

SUCCESSOR TO HELEN WILLS BELIEVED FOUND.—Miss Mary Detwiler is a freshman at G. W. and has attracted considerable attention with her spectacular tennis playing. We are backing Mary 2 to 1 against Helen Wills. Miss Detwiler is also a class officer and is very, very cute. We approve of these versatile girls.

FIRST GIRL TO MAKE OUTSTANDING STRIDES WITH THE RADIO.—Evelyn Pierson has opened a private station all her own. Tune in anytime of the day and night and Billie will tell you anything you want to know, provided it is about Billie Pierson.

CHILD PRODIGY.—Claire Beckham is a protegee of Janet's and in spite of this handicap and that of her youth (extreme) she is still able to get away with a Texas drawl and that horse laugh, and playing bridge in the upstairs Library.

The CHERRY TREE

HOW TO BE POPULAR THOUGH PURE.—Miss Sheppard refuses to endorse Pond's Vanishing Cream, but has made herself famous as a reformer of the young men. She majors in men and she doesn't flunk her subjects. Janet stresses her individuality by her Lipstick, Lorgnettes And LOVING line.

COLLEGE GIRL HOLDS STRANGE POWERS OVER MEN.—No man has ever been known to ditch "Pud" Loeffler. She is writing a book on "How To Get A Man and How To Hold Him." We're for her because the Sigma Nu's and the Sigma Chi's are and because she is a great sport. What are we going to do without her next year?

ADVICE TO THE LOVELORN.—Margaret Monk, Our University Confidence Woman, knows everybody's secrets and tells them all. She gets away with it, in fact she gets away with more than any other ten people on the campus. She gripes us sometimes, but on the whole we like her. What is it about these Pi Phis anyway.

WINNER OF THE POPULARITY CONTEST.—Little Hermie John has recently won the Popular Vote for the Beauty contest for the co-eds at G. W. She's about the cutest thing we know and we're earnestly praying that she will always be as sweet and unspoiled as she is now.

PRIDE OF THE DELTS.—Miss Virginia Frye the sweetheart of Delta Tau Delta, has recently pledged allegiance to Gamma Beta Pi, proving that good things are worth waiting for. What a Girl she is.

YOUNG AUTHORESS.—Miss Louise DuBose has just completed her book on "How I Manage 16 Men At One Time." The volume has been dedicated to Dean Rose, "Whose helpful guidance and valuable suggestions have made possible the writing of this book." Miss DuBose is a member of Hour Glass, Sphinx, Y. W. C. A. French Club, W. C. T. U., and Pi Beta Phi.

YOUNG BUSINESS WOMAN GOES INTER-FRATERNITY.—Due to her sunny personality and sweet way, Miss Edith Norris has been voted by every Fraternity on the Campus as the "Girl Perfect." No dance is complete without her presence, in fact no dance is ever given that she does not attend. She is well liked by the girls as well as the men, which is the true test of popularity.

THE PENN STATE TOUR

This tour, not offered this Fall, is one of the most enjoyable of our "Collegiate Tours for Morons." Anyone who does not take it is a moron, though a great many morons have signed up for the next one. A comprehensive idea of this delightful trip can be given by a description of the tour taken last fall.

There are various ways of getting up for this game. You can get yourself a Penn State drag like Pud and Winnie did or you can hook a ride with one or more boy friends. Dinky and Kitty can give you the proper procedure in this case. If you are a boy that is just too bad.

This trip is taken in a fleet of comfortable motor cars (see Kreglow's Ford or Licklider's Chevrolet) which starts the day before the game, and leaves on the stagger hours all through the night and on into the next morning. Some people actually arrive in time to see the game.

The main purpose of this tour is for the collection of souvenirs. Perhaps a visit to the Theta Delta Chi house would clear up the mystery of the missing Penn State megaphone. A dearth of overcoats, hats, ties, etc. is reported after the G. W. U. annual invasion. Due to the fact that the mattresses were too bulky to carry and the phones were nailed to the wall, these could not be added to the collection.

One of the chief charms of this trip is the utter sang froid with which the G. W. U. students took complete possession of State College; a general get together was held in the Blue Moon by Kitty Boykin, Dotty Schenken and the aforementioned Theta Deltis, who made a very wild weak-end off of sweet cider. Charging down the main highway at fifty miles an hour, it was very lucky for Babe Whyte and four other occupants of his coupe that the cop was from the D. C. and a Central High School Graduate. He understood the soft southern drawl that was handed out to him by the female occupants and finally condescended to let them proceed on their way. Perhaps the old stands at Baker Field have seen better parties but we are inclined to doubt it. Northerners do not have the finesse of throwing a party the way the Southerners do. The S. A. E's and the Theta Deltis turned out to be the original RAH RAH boys: in evidence everywhere. We have never been able to locate the others on Friday night. Billie says they were at the Sigma Chi House?

Speaking of that Sigma Chi House the main feature of this tour was a dance given there on Saturday Night. A hot orchestra was provided by our congenial hosts and a dance was thrown not given by the students of G. W. U. It was noticed that Nat Thompson, Ward Parker and Dinky Harrison missed this affair.

Taking every thing as a whole this tour was a big success all the way round but as it will not be given this year we are very sorry to have taken up your time and aroused your interest so high.
